BROADWAY THEATER.

Mary Mannering.
"Mary Mannering requires no introduction to the people of Norwich as she has already won the esteem and admiration of the people of the Pacific and is acknowledged to be (by far) the greatest interpreter of the drama class of drama on the American stage.
She brings with her on this occasion an exceptionally strong supporting company, and all the lovers of the drama should not fail to take advantage of witnessing her excellent work in "Step by Step," the new drama from the pen of Langdon Mitchell. She is under the management of the Messrs. Schubert. The production is an elaborate one, every act, scene and property being carried out, and will be given in its entirety at the Broadway theater on Monday, March 1.

BREED THEATER.

High Class Moving Pictures and Illustrated Songs.
A magnificent picture, teeming with the grim realities of the Civil war and extraordinary maneuvering of armies of the opposing forces, are shown in "Stirring Days in Old Virginia," now being shown at the Breed theater at matinee and evening performances.
The scenes are laid near the Warren homestead, Petersburg, Va.; time, March and April, 1865. The gigantic struggle has been going on for four years, and still America is in the throes of civil war. The federal union, encumbered by the war, is shown, encumbered by the war, with arms and in the old colonial mansion of Captain Warren, who is with Lee, and entrusted with secret missions.
Generals Grant and Logan are shown and easily recognizable. Knowing that the enemy is contemplating a new movement, Captain Warren dismisses him in a complete federal officer's uniform and attempts the spy's work. Warren is captured in the performance, on his mission and is condemned to death. Through the faithfulness of an old negro servant, the bullets of the execution guns are removed and by the captain's cunning devising of death, the soldiers return to make preparations for burying him, and he substitutes his servant's body under the blanket, which the soldiers do not discover until they return, when the captain is a long way off disguised in the stolen federal uniform. This is only one of the splendid scenes that constitute this picture, the remaining ones showing the closing days of the great civil war, Captain Warren and Lieutenant McFarland both meet death in the pitched battles of the war, and is followed by the field surrender of Gen. Robert E. Lee to U. S. Gen.
Grant. The story is closed with Abraham Lincoln delivering at Richmond the famous speech, "The war is over, reconstruction begins." To the victorious army, and shows General Grant, Logan and Sheridan of the army, and also several of Lincoln's war cabinet, famous in their time.
The magnificent climax is reached when the martyred president steps out on the balcony of the White House, and words, to the great enthusiasm of the assembled army.

Other excellent moving pictures are shown, and comedy ones that are really funny, and the musical portion of the program, and when the Evening Breeze is singing home, Sweet home, by Madame Morille and Little Tattie, Little Tatie, Mr. Cooper, making one of the best duos offered yet. These will be at Breed theater the remainder of the week.

REDUCTIONS NEARLY $200,000.

Bridgeport Board of Relief Completes its Work and Will File Report Today.

The Bridgeport board of relief has completed its report. The number of complaints filed exceeded that of a year ago by over 100. The reductions allowed last year reached $100,000.
This year it will be nearly $200,000.
The board will file the report to the city council on Monday.

Some of the assessments placed on the list, such as the property of the Ringling Bros., $75,000, had to be taken off, as it was found the circus paraphernalia was not taxable in Bridgeport. Many reductions were allowed where the assessors doubted up on assessments in its plan to equalize the same.

Teeth Without a Plate is the greatest boon of modern times. I wish you could understand the difference between having teeth with a plate and teeth without a plate. One is firm, comfortable and lasts a lifetime; the other is a nuisance, and the best part of the taste.

One never falls down; the other often does.
Where it is necessary to wear a
